

TITLE

INSTANT MESSAGE RESPONSE MESSAGE WITH USER INFORMATION
INCORPORATED THEREIN

Abstract of the Disclosure

A first Instant Message is published to a group of subscribing clients. The message is received by an application at a first client. A response message is created at the first client, the response message comprising information provided by the first client, the first message and information about the first client. The response message is returned to the originator of the published first message.